Drag Queens Dare to Bare Their Soul

Stasi Lofton and Jada Mercer

Drag Queens and Bh Queens have a big impact on fashion today. Designers such as Isaac Mizrahi, Dolce & Gabbana, and the well-known Versace are renowned in gay circles. Queens have an impeccably exquisite taste for clothing. In today's fashion, they are familiar with the latest trends, fads, and events; any and everything a prissy "girl" would want to know. They are the most fabulous people to be around; daytime they're ladies, at night, they're queens: "they have arrived and are ready to Vogue it down!" We interviewed a few queens who requested to be anonymous; we consented, so long as you got the scoop!

How does it feel to be a Drag Queen?

You feel liberated, invincible, worshiped; you feel more sexually attracted, you get more respect and you feel like the goddess of the night because everybody wants to be like you.

What's the deal with idolizing Madonna and Cher?

Their charisma, passion, especially their attitude, they make you feel like you don't need anybody; you are your own woman. Madonna and Cher are disco chic, rebellious ideals to us all Queens.

Are Drag Queens really the Queens of the party?

Of Course! We usually make sure that everybody is having fun and karaoke/performance is the celebration event of the night for all to see us shine.

What is a Bh Queen?

Bh Queens are guys that look straight but are really ladies trapped in a man's body. Depending on the situation, they are ladies at heart but they can be a man when they need to be.

Where do Queens in general buy their clothes?

Usually we go online.

It is a known fact that Drag Queens attend Balls on occasion, what is the big deal? It's a lady like prissy competition between Queens to show the gay society who they are. There are competitions there such as Vogue them (posing/dancing), Walk off (runway), and Face (friendly competition to see how beautiful your face is).

What does Drag Queen Stand for?

It stands for passion and inspiration for being innovator of the hour.
